Fall -2011

Fall has fallen!

Fall, the season of harvest. Fall is one of my favorite seasons. The transition from brilliant green to a variety of breathtaking colors is awesome. Cooler temperatures and none of the nasty humidity is very welcome. I was beginning to wonder if Fall would arrive at all. Whew, that was a brutal Summer!

Also, Fall is a season of change. Mother Earth prepares for the coming of Winter. Animals that hibernate gather food for the long Winter's nap. The trees loose their leaves in preparation for the Winter winds, snow, and ice.

Doctors – A Pain

Doctors have become a pain. Medicine they prescribe have side effects that are worst than the condition you have. Develop a symptom, don't worry, they will prescribe something to take care of that. The big problem is that doctors treat symptoms and not causes.

Magic Jack

For about four years I have use a Magic Jack. This is the coolest gadget to come out since strawberry shortcake! It plugs into your PC's USB port and allows you to make local and long distance phone calls FREE. The cost is $19.95 a year. Yes, I said a year!

I now carry it with me no matter where I go. I works in either a desktop or a laptop. I must admit that prior to this newsletter, I did not carry it with me as I did not want to get bogged down with a phone. But, I have found that it has become a indispensable part of my PC.

It allows me to use either a standard telephone or a headset. Like I said, one of the coolest gadgets ever invented.

Backups of data

Use a PC? Then, you need to make sure you backup your critical data files. And, do it regularly! I guaranty that sooner or later your PC will crash. If you you don't back up your data files, then will be gone! There are many ways to do this. Flash drives, external hard drives, CD's and DVD's, and services that do backups on the internet. Back it up or loose it!
